Rail, Bus Relief Is Part of Tax Program

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller says a massive tax-relief plan to help railroad and bus lines will be the basis for his transportation program to be presented to the Legislature.

The plan, recommended Sunday by Robert W. Purcell, the governor's special advisor on transportation, includes a proposal for legislation that would force localities to cut railroad property taxes by as much as 15 million dollars.

A new state aid program would reimburse local communities for some of the money.

Travel Falls Off

Purcell, in a 75-page report, said that, with few exceptions, the railroads serving New York State are in varying degrees of financial distress. "A major cause of their trouble," he declared, is loss of passenger revenue to other forms of transportation.

He called the taxes levied on railroads operating in the state "inequitable and excessive." "When the railroads enjoyed a highly profitable monopoly, high taxes were entirely proper," he said. "Now, however, conditions have completely changed."

Action Needed

Purcell, a longtime business associate of the governor, said that, unless immediate action is taken, railroad passenger service in the state will collapse or be put under governmental control.

He recommended that Rockefeller seek legislation for:

1. Set up a state formula relating local taxes on railroad real estate to the earnings of the individual lines. This plan could cut 15 million dollars from the railroads' present tax bill of 44 million dollars a year on property in New York. It would become effective in stages over the next three years.

2. Authorize the Port of New York Authority to borrow 20 million dollars to buy cars to replace old units used for New York City commuter service on the New York Central, New Haven, and Long Island railroads.

3. Lower taxes on earnings of bus companies, a move that would save them $1,100,000 a year, and rebate for those companies the recent state tax increase of three cents a gallon on diesel-fuel oil and two cents on gasoline.

4. Authorize the Public Service Commission to make exceptions in the state's full crew law, which specifies the number of crewmen assigned to trains.

Agency Suggested

5. Create a New York-New Jersey agency to handle commuter problems between the two states and work out arrangements with railroads, bus companies, governmental agencies and other units concerned with the problem. New Jersey would have to adopt similar legislation.

6. Eliminate immediately the 1½ million dollars in taxes railroads pay each year on so-called intangible rights to do business in local communities.

7. Exempt from taxation railroad projects carried out in the public interest—such as grade-crossing eliminations and installation of safety devices.

Purcell recommended that any community that previously received $100,000 or 4 per cent of its total tax revenue from a railroad be granted special state aid, up to 50 per cent, as reimbursement for lost revenues.

Based on a maximum 15-million-dollar cut, this aid would total 7½ million dollars a year.

Two Bills Ready on Court Act

Legislators Are Aiming for Home

By CHARLES DUMAS

Associated Press Staff Writer

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Legislature's Republican leaders were seriously considering repeal of the Youth Court Act today as the first step in breaking a log jam to adjournment March 25.

As the 1959 session girded for the big push, a highly placed Republican source said repeal of the controversial law was a clear possibility.

The effective date of the statute, which would provide special court treatment for offenders aged 16 through 20, has been postponed twice under heavy fire from judges, law enforcement officers and newspaper groups.

The source said GOP leaders definitely would not permit the bill to take effect in its present form April 1, when the last postponement will expire.

Two Bills Ready

Two bills proposing repeal of the law were ready for action in the Assembly. One would wipe it off the books. The other would repeal it, too, but also would broaden the current youthful offender law—as a substitute of sorts.

It was learned that Republican leaders were thinking of pushing both bills through the Legislature and letting Gov. Rockefeller decide which he should sign.

The source said that final decision had not been made but that this appeared to be the most favored plan.

Other Matters

In other Capitol Hill developments:

1. Rockefeller's advisors on transportation proposed legislation that would force communities in the state to cut railroad taxes by as much as 15 million dollars over a three-year period.

The governor said his aide's report on the plight of financially pressed railroads would form the basis for his own recommendations to the Legislature.

2. Rockefeller and the legislative leaders were expected to approve Mayor Robert F. Wagner's request for new taxing powers to produce 150 million dollars more revenue for New York City.

Outlook Favorable

One high ranking Republican said the outlook for Wagner was (Continued on Page 6, Col. 1)

Some State Areas Suffer From Gales

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — High winds trumpeted into New York State last night and today, trimming trees, snapping power lines, kicking up blinding snow, closing schools and spreading an umbrella of minor damage.

Niagara Falls Airport recorded one gust of 93 miles an hour. This morning the Weather Bureau reported gusts close to 60 in Massena and Watertown and close to 50 in Rochester. Elsewhere, they were generally in the 40s and 50s. The Bureau said they would diminish by tonight.

A house trailer, being towed near Niagara Falls, was blown from the road into a field.

Blinding snow kicked up by the winds cut travel and closed most schools between Boonville and Watertown today.

ROBERT E. HENSEL

New Scout Field Executive Named

A new field scout executive, Robert E. Hensel of this city, was recently appointed to serve the Southern, Rondout Valley and Western District for Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, it was announced today.

He replaces Eugene Johnson, who after three years in the council transferred to Syracuse last September.

Hensel recently completed a course at the National Training School for scout executives at Mendham, N. J.

An Eagle Scout and former district chairman, he was a member of the executive board and an Explorer coordinator for the Saratoga County Council, Boy Scouts. He completed the Wood Badge training.

Hensel is a graduate of New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse University, and has had Army basic engineering training. He comes to Kingston from Saratoga Springs where he was manager of Welsh and Gery Lumber Company.

He was active in Saratoga Springs as a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis, the Congregational Church, and as a volunteer scoutmaster.

Mr. and Mrs. Hensel reside at Lucas Avenue Extension.

Cragmoor Fire Is Under Probe

A fire of undetermined origin which destroyed a 12-room, occupied summer home in Cragmoor early Sunday morning is under investigation by Ellenville state police.

The structure, owned by Max Zielinski of New York City, was burned to the ground.

No estimate of loss was available today.

The home, located opposite the Cragmoor Club swimming pool, was used during the summer to lodge paying guests, largely actors and staff of the Cragmoor Playhouse.

Cpl. N. G. Leakes told The Freeman that the fire was being investigated by Trooper J. S. Metzger, BCI.

Mrs. William Howell, wife of a member of the Cragmoor Fire Company, said this morning that she had "never seen anything go so completely so fast."

She said that the Cragmoor company, small as it is, has done "a wonderful job" at recent fires in the area but that the Zielinski home was too far gone before the fire was detected.

She said that a baby in the home of a neighbor, Ralph G. Brown, awoke the family early Sunday morning. It was then that flames were seen shooting from the burning structure.

Will Survey Gorge Near LeFevre Falls on Floods

The Army Corps of Engineers is planning a survey of the gorge near LeFevre Falls on Rondout Creek in the near future in connection with flood control, it was reported today by Mrs. Catherine O'Leary, mayor of the village of Rosendale.

The information was received in a communication to Supervisor George Mollenhauer of the town of Rosendale from Major Darwyn Robins, assistant for Civil Works with the Corps.

Mollenhauer wrote to the Engineering Corps February 25 to request a representative to appear at a public hearing and discuss flood control plans for the Rondout.

Further Study Asked

His request was made following a hearing in the village firehouse February 24 attended by some 150 residents to discuss a proposed flood control plan. Consensus of the meeting was that the plan should be given further study and a representative of the Corps of Engineers invited to explain the proposal in greater detail.

Major Robins wrote that the advance plans submitted in February "are preliminary only and subject to revision after further consideration is given to flood conditions in the narrow gorge near LeFevre Falls. We plan to make a survey at that locality in the near future to obtain basic data for a study of the economic feasibility of removing the obstruction and the effect on the advance plans for the Rosendale improvement."

Advise Deferment

"It is considered desirable to defer the request meeting until the survey and our investigation of the situation at the downstream narrow point has been made. Thereafter, we will be pleased to advise on a suitable date for the requested meeting."

Cost of the proposed flood control plan which would entail relocation of 10 houses, and construction of a levee and flood wall, might approach $1,000,000. The federal government would pick up the check for an estimated $841,000, the remainder (purchase of property, easements, rights of way) being underwritten by New York State.

Outline of Plans

Plans call for construction of a levee and flood wall 4,000 feet on the left bank from the upstream bridge to a point about 600 feet below the Route 32 bridge and flood wall and levee from 1,350 feet below the bridge, stop-log structures ponding areas and interior drainage work, relocation of Main and James Streets, raising of Route 32 bridge and filling of the low area below the bridge are included in the plan.

May Show Documents

He may emphasize this by showing his television audience some of the documents setting forth the occupation agreements.

He also was expected to reiterate this nation's intention to stand firm in Berlin, and to emphasize the senselessness of atomic war.

Informed sources described the speech as a restatement of the American position and an effort to put into perspective the cold war battle over Berlin that has been raging since last November. They said the speech would contain no surprises and set forth no new policies.

Contests in Three

Five Villages to Hold Elections on Tuesday

Voters in five incorporated villages of Ulster County will go to the polls Tuesday to elect mayors and village trustees. There will be contests in three—Rosendale, Ellenville and Pine Hill.

Candidates in Saugerties and New Paltz will run unopposed.

Polling Hours Listed

Polling hours and places are as follows:

Rosendale—5 to 9 p. m. in Rosendale Fire Hall.

Ellenville—12 noon to 8 p. m. in Ellenville Methodist Church basement, Canal Street.

To Be On All Major Networks

Likely to Charge Red Word Failure

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower reports to the nation tonight on the Berlin situation as he sees it.

His half-hour address from the White House will be carried by all the major radio and television networks, starting at 9:30 p. m. EST.

Advance indications were that Eisenhower would detail his charges that the Soviets, in seeking to force Allied military forces out of the onetime German capital, are trying to break solemn agreements entered into during and after World War II concerning the four-power status of the city.

May Show Documents

He may emphasize this by showing his television audience some of the documents setting forth the occupation agreements.

He also was expected to reiterate this nation's intention to stand firm in Berlin, and to emphasize the senselessness of atomic war.

Keating Asks Law To Counteract SC Ruling Reaction

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) urged Congress today to pass legislation to overcome the effect of recent Supreme Court decisions in the fields of subversion and law enforcement.

At the same time, he appealed to fellow legislators to undertake the task "with a profound respect for the place of the Supreme Court in our system of government."

Keating, in a Senate speech, deplored the position taken by what he called extremists on both sides of the controversy over decisions of the court under Chief Justice Earl Warren.

One camp, he said, has proposed measures that would endanger the very institution of the court, while those in the opposite camp "have bitterly attacked even proposals to study the decisions of the court."

Keating said Congress has a duty to pass corrective measures when the court assumes legislative powers, misinterprets the intent of Congress, or "presumes to pass upon the wisdom of statutes."

"It would be fatal to our system of government to confer upon the court immunity from legislative scrutiny," he said.

Urges Restraint

But Keating, a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said Congress should show self-restraint.

Prosecutor Quits In Suffolk; Says Slash Political

RIVERHEAD, N. Y. (AP)—Edward Rigney, special prosecutor in the Suffolk County land grab scandals, resigned today in protest against what he called a politically motivated slash in funds for his investigation.

Assailing the Republican-controlled Legislature's action to cut his budget from $240,000 to $100,000 for the coming year, Rigney said:

"In my opinion the Legislature has taken this action because I have moved against powerful political figures."

Suffolk, the easternmost county on Long Island, has long been predominantly Republican. Some of those convicted or indicted in the land-grab investigation were important in GOP circles. Rigney, who makes his home in Manhattan, is a registered Democrat.

Rigney said both Republican Gov. Rockefeller and the GOA attorney general, Louis J. Lefkowitz, had approved the original $250,000 appropriation which the Legislature cut.

11 Die in State Weekend Mishaps

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Accidents claimed 11 lives in New York State over the weekend.

Five persons died in mishaps involving automobiles.

Most of the victims between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight Sunday were in the New York City area.

Maurice M. O'Connor, 56, of the Bronx, was killed Sunday when he fell from a subway platform in lower Manhattan and landed on the electrified third rail of the tracks. He was trying to catch a train.

Crushed by Wheel

At Mount Vernon Friday night, Thomas Daly, 68, slipped and fell while running for a bus and was crushed beneath a back wheel of the vehicle.

A woman who took her dog for a walk in the woods Friday, and apparently lost her way, was found dead early Saturday lying face down in eight inches of snow at Fishkill, Dutchess County.

The body of Miss Ruth Elizabeth Blohme, 40, was discovered in heavy woods three-quarters of a mile from her home. Police said she died from exposure and cold. They theorized she lost her way, stumbled on through the deep snow and finally collapsed.

Other deaths:

Middlesex — Arthur Bagley, 51, struck by piece of wood Saturday while operating buzz saw.

In Thruway Mishap

Buffalo—Joseph Kosick, 7, Buffalo, collision of pickup truck and tractor-trailer on Thruway Sunday night.

Floral Park—Alice Brierton, 74, struck by train, found Sunday.

More Firms Sign For Lions Show Starting April 7

The biggest Lions Industrial Exposition and Home Show ever will get underway on April 7, according to Donald E. Briggs, general chairman. Plans for the gala event are about completed.

Exhibitors are continuing to sign up, and most of the booths have been taken. On display April 7-11 in the State Armory on Manor Avenue will be the products of area commerce and industry in the 125 booths. Prizes will be awarded for the two outstanding booths.

As in the past, proceeds from the 12th annual event will be used by the Kingston Lions Club for local community service projects.

Briggs reports that the following organizations have recently added their names to the already impressive list of exhibitors: Kaye Sportswear, Lou's Boat Basin, Colonial Roofing Co., Alco Awning Co., The North Forty Co., Guardian Aluminum Products Corp., McConnell Piano and Organ Co., O. A. Feth & Son, and The Ulster County Grange.

Must Talk for Taxpayers Civic Assn. Stresses School Election Stand

Kingston Civic Association announced today it will only support Board of Education candidates, "Who will truly represent the views of our taxpayers and further the cause of education in the Greater Kingston Consolidated School District."

The resolution was unanimously adopted at a directors meeting of the association held Saturday at the home of Worthington L. Rider, Eugene DeDea, chairman of the group's education committee, offered the proposal.

The board of education of the Kingston City School District is preparing for an election in May when two members of the nine-man board will be elected by qualified voters of the enlarged city school district to succeed Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker Jr. and Harold Darling.

The former board of education will continue to serve as board for the enlarged city district. As the terms of its present members expire, they will be replaced by vote of the entire district.

Annual election of board members will be held annually on first Tuesday in May. In the past, new members of the board were appointed by the mayor. Under consolidation, which became effective Jan. 1, the office became elective.

Annals Consolidation

The Civic Association again assailed consolidation in its Saturday resolution and described it as "the result of the arbitrary and undemocratic action of the present board of education."

Consolidation was defeated in a referendum held in April, 1958 by almost 300 votes, but was approved by the board of education, an action upheld by Dr. James E. Allen, commissioner of education, after he subsequently held a public hearing here to test sentiment on the merger.

Consolidation "was contrary to the wishes of our taxpayers," the Civic Association declared in passing DeDea's resolution.

Cites Skyrocketing Taxes

Since "there is no recourse in court to this regrettable action (passage of consolidation) it is obvious that, unless competent and economy-minded people are elected to the board of education, our school taxes will continue to increase rapidly."

The association also voted to work in close cooperation "with other interested taxpayer organizations and committees" in the consolidated district "to obtain the best education for all of our children at a justifiable cost to all taxpayers concerned."

Would Extend Act

The report recommended to the Legislature that the scope of the reciprocal witness act be extended so that the commission would have power to subpoena witnesses to hearings here from states which are parties to the law. The commission said such added power would enable it to subpoena 5 out-of-state delegates to the Appalachian meeting.

The commission reported that its present activities include confidential investigations of the state partial-mutual tax section and of charges by Comptroller Lawrence E. Gerosa of New York City that the city Board of Education has wasted 100 million dollars in school construction funds.

Grumet declined to reveal to newsmen the progress of these and other current investigations.

Replica of Hudson Ship, Half Moon, to Go on Tour

A notably missing historic symbol in observance of the Hudson Champlain Year of History will be produced from a central Hudson Valley source and begin its first tour next month.

It will be a mobile replica of the Half Moon which Henry Hudson sailed up the Hudson in 1609, and will be in one-third scale, patterned after the 1909 full-scale replica, sent here from the Netherlands for the Hudson-Fulton Celebration.

Only part of the 50-year-old replica still exists at Cohoes, and those in charge of programming this year's celebration, regrettably noted the lack of a model of the Half Moon earlier in the year.

The replica, now being built, will be a contribution to the year of history by J. Harold W. Hargreave 3rd, and the Land of Rip Van Winkle, Inc., of which he is president. The corporation operates Rip's Retreat in Greene County.

Through cooperation of Karl Wede, Town of Saugerties, a marine antique dealer, plans of the 1909 replica were obtained, and the one-third scale ship is being built on the Mellin property, Bearville Road, Town of Woodstock.

Artist John Pike, of Woodstock is in charge of designing the boat to scale, and it is due to be finished in time for a tour slated to start during the last week in (Continued on Page 6, Col. 5)

BUILT IN HOLLAND — Like the original, a replica of the Half Moon (D'Halve Maen) the ship sailed here by Henry Hudson in 1609, was built in Holland for the Hudson-Fulton Celebration in 1909. It is shown here under construction. One like it, in one-third scale, will be produced in Ulster County next month.

Sellers Must Affix Stamps To Cigarettes by April 1

ALBANY — Cigarette sellers are in for a massive statewide stamping job March 31 in preparation for New York State's five-cent cigarette tax effective April 1.

The State Tax Department's Miscellaneous Tax Bureau is preparing to distribute 74 million new two-cent cigarette tax stamps which must be slapped on every pack of cigarettes before they can legally be offered for sale on and after April 1. The present state tax is three cents a pack.

Must Buy Stamps

All retailers and wholesalers of cigarettes in the state who are not registered as state agents under the cigarette tax law are made responsible for buying and affixing the two-cent tax stamps to their inventory of cigarettes on hand at the close of business March 31.

These are cigarettes which already bear the present three-cent tax stamp.

The state's 400 licensed cigarette tax agents who normally put the tax stamps on cigarettes are being called upon to aid the tax department in the switch-over to the higher rate, according to Joseph H. Murphy, president of the State Tax Commission.

The agents have been invited to attend one of a series of cigarette tax conferences scheduled in New York City, Albany, Buffalo, Syracuse, Rochester and Utica.

To Distribute Stamps

The agents are expected to help distribute the two-cent stamps and official instructions from the tax commission to the hundreds of thousands of retail sellers of cigarettes throughout the state in time to meet the midnight March 31 deadline.

Cigarettes in vending machines are among those to which the deadline will apply. Odd packages of 40, 50 or 100 cigarettes will have to have the additional stamps too—an extra two-cent stamp for each 20 cigarettes. Two-and-a-half-cent and five-cent stamps will also be available.

Retail dealers and wholesalers who are not state-licensed agents will be able to buy the extra two-cent stamps from their cigarette jobbers.

May Get Credit

Retailers and wholesalers who buy an excess of the new two-cent stamps for their expected March 31 inventory will be able to get a credit or refund for the unused stamps if they return the stamps by April 7.

Tax department agents will launch statewide enforcement checks on retail sellers of cigarettes April 1 when every pack of 20 cigarettes offered for sale in the state must show state tax stamps totaling five cents.

Two teenagers charged with third degree assault after reported trouble in the Community Theatre, pleaded innocent before City Judge Aaron E. Klein today, and a man booked on a burglary count, waived examination and was held to await grand jury action.

John Senkowitz, 18, of 243 Hasbrouck Avenue, and George Harte, 16, of 148 Miller Lane, were booked on the assault counts on complaint of Michael Dorso, manager of the Community Theatre.

The arrest followed reports Sunday night of fighting at the theatre.

Attorney Frank Vogt appeared for the two and their cases were put over to March 24 after pleas of innocent were entered.

Robert Vernon Stokes, 34, who, police said, has no home, was arrested early today on charges of third degree burglary and petit larceny.

The arrest followed investigation of a reported theft of a watch from the home of Mrs. Marie Empt, 282 Albany Avenue.

The petit larceny charge was withdrawn in court today, and he waived examination on the other count. The arrest was at police headquarters by officers Leonard Ellsworth and William Slover of the detective division.

Midwest Travel Stranded During Weekend Storms

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The supposedly dying winter, showing no pain, plastered the Midwest with wind, snow and rain storms over the weekend and swept eastward without losing much of its savage power.

The wild, late winter storms left thousands of persons stranded for hours. Included were nearly 350 passengers on four Chicago and North Western Railroad trains which got stuck in 12-foot snow drifts in Wisconsin. All of the trains had sufficient fuel to heat the cars and all passengers had food during their enforced layover, ranging up to 12 hours.

The last of the stalled trains, with 150 passengers aboard, was pulled free late Sunday night, eight hours after it was halted by huge drifts about 12 miles north of Green Bay.

The wintry storms, killed at least four persons — three in Arkansas communities hit by tornadoes.

More than a score of persons suffered injuries in the storms. Property damage was heavy.

The massive storm center, rolling out of the Rockies Saturday, dumped heavy snow on Wisconsin, Iowa and Nebraska. The vicious winds battered northern Midwest areas with gusts up to 78 m.p.h. in parts of Michigan.

The snow, powered by the high winds, ranged up to a foot or more and blocked highways in many Midwest areas.

The last of the passenger trains was freed from its snow-bound station by five diesel units coupled together. It was en route from Ashland to Green Bay-Milwaukee-Chicago.

One train with 83 passengers was stuck at Randolph, 80 miles west of Milwaukee, for 10 hours before a giant railroad plow from Milwaukee cleared the tracks and pulled it free.

Another train with 90 passengers en route from Green Bay to Chicago waited at Campbellsport for 12 hours before the plows cleared the rails. A fourth train snowed out at Appleton was pulled free earlier Sunday and continued its trip to Green Bay with 12 passengers.

The gusty winds carried snow flurries and cold air east and southward and rain changed to snow as the cold front swept into the Appalachians. The front crossed Georgia, pressed by showers and thunderstorms which pelted areas southward into Florida.

The tornadoes struck the towns of Opel, Owensboro and Moko in Arkansas Saturday night. Casualties included one dead in each of the small communities and 11 injured. Twisters also hit areas in southern Illinois.

Severe wind storms also lashed the Memphis, Tenn., area Saturday night, damaging nearly 250 homes and causing an estimated $250,000 damage. Winds were clocked at from 80 to 100 m.p.h. in the heart of the storm.

Winds gusting at 30 to 50 m.p.h. continued during the early morning from eastern Michigan across the lower Great Lakes region.

Ashby Application For Stay Sent To Justice Taylor

Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth has signed an order referring the matter of an application for a certificate of reasonable doubt in the Edwin W. Ashby case to Supreme Court Justice Donald S. Taylor at Troy.

The matter of a stay of execution of sentence and application for a certificate of reasonable doubt in preparation for an appeal, was before Justice Elsworth Friday at Albany special term under a show cause order signed by Supreme Court Justice William Deckelman. Justice Elsworth disqualified himself and later referred the matter to Justice Taylor.

Following the conviction of Ashby, former Ulster County commissioner of jurors, on a perjury charge a six month jail sentence was imposed by Justice Henry Clay Greenberg, trial judge.

An application for a certificate of reasonable doubt and an extension of the temporary stay of execution of sentence granted by Justice Greenberg, was made to the Appellate Division by N. LeVan Haver, counsel for Ashby. The Appellate Division held it did not have jurisdiction and directed the application be made to a justice in the district.

When the matter came before Justice Elsworth at a regular special term last Friday at Albany, he disqualified himself on the grounds he was a member of the Ulster County Jury Board which had appointed Ashby to the jury.

Asked today when the application would be made to Justice Taylor for a certificate of reasonable doubt, Haver, who was engaged in trial work in Supreme Court here, stated he did not know when the application would be made to Justice Taylor.

Under a stipulation between Haver and Special Prosecutor Bernard Tompkins, the temporary stay granted by Justice Greenberg is being continued pending application for the certificate of reasonable doubt and the filing of an appeal by Haver.

Ashby meanwhile is being confined in the Ulster County Jail following his conviction of perjury, second degree, arising out of testimony he gave before the special "kickback" grand jury last fall.

A federal grand jury also has accused Ashby, a former bottler and beer-distributor, of submitting fraudulent corporation tax returns for 1954-1956. If convicted on all charges he could be sentenced to 43 years in prison and fined $80,000.

Barbara has been unavailable to investigators since state police flushed 60 gangsters and friends from his estate at Apalachin Nov. 14, 1957. He still lives there but the doors have been locked.

Heart Doctors To Examine Host Of Apalachin Mob

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A team of "outstanding cardiologists" is expected to make an examination of the Apalachin convention host, who has fought all attempts to question him about the notorious meeting.

Atty. Theodore Bowes said today Joseph Barbara Sr. was scheduled to be arraigned in Syracuse March 19 on income-tax evasion charges.

However, Bowes said he had heard from Barbara's lawyer and "indications are that Barbara will not appear personally."

Bowes said U. S. District Judge James F. Foley probably would set a date Thursday for an examination of Barbara by "outstanding" court-designated doctors. Barbara, 53, has pleaded that an arrest or upset might kill him because of a heart condition.

Barbara is charged with evading payment of $14,600 in federal income taxes in 1952-53 and failing to report approximately $38,000 in taxable income for those years.

A federal grand jury also has accused Barbara, a former bottler and beer-distributor, of submitting fraudulent corporation tax returns for 1954-1956. If convicted on all charges he could be sentenced to 43 years in prison and fined $80,000.

Republicans Want Leader With Interest

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (AP)—In a shakeup move, a district GOP group has endorsed Joseph Nowicki of Pearl River for election as president of the state's Assn. of Young Republican Clubs.

James P. Gibbons Jr. of Binghamton, chairman of the Sixth Judicial District Assn. of Young Republicans, said the action Saturday was part of a statewide movement to oust Norbert Noel of Westchester County from the state presidency.

Gibbons said "the feeling is that Noel has not shown enough interest in the job."

But Noel, reached at his home in White Plains, said "the state association is in the best condition of the past decade."

Noel has served one term and the custom in the state association has been to reelect a president for a second term.

Nowicki is counsel to Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson and is chairman of the Ninth Judicial District Assn. of Young Republicans.

The state group will hold a nominating session next Friday and Saturday at West Point. The election will be held in May.

Amsterdam Firm Faces FTC Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Co. of New York City, Mohasco Industries of Amsterdam, N. Y., and Hat Corp. of America, South Norwalk, Conn. face price discrimination charges made by the Federal Trade Commission.

Mohasco is the nation's largest manufacturer of rugs and carpets, making the Mohawk and Alexander Smith lines. Bigelow-Sanford is a substantial factor in the same industry.

Hat Corp. is the No. 2 hat-maker, selling Dobbs, Knox, Cavannah, Champ and other brands.

Separate complaints charge that the three companies have annual discount systems which result in smaller customers paying higher prices than competitors who buy in greater volume.

The FTC said no discounts are paid on annual purchases of less than $5,000 while 5 per cent rebates are given on purchases of about $100,000.

Another allegation was that the firms allow chain stores to combine the value of goods purchased by all their outlets in order to get the maximum discount. It said individual stores in the chains often do not buy enough to qualify for any discount.

The Department stores and Allied Stores Corp. were named as allegedly receiving illegal price advantages.

The commission said the effect of the discount arrangements may be a substantial lessening of competition in violation of the anti-trust laws.

Bigelow-Sanford, Mohasco and Hat Corp. have 30 days in which to answer the complaints. Hearings will be held in about six weeks.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MARCH 16 1959

STATE INCOME TAX CHANGES

The New York Personal Income Tax will be collected on a current basis through the withholding of the tax on wages and by the payment of estimated tax in quarterly installments. The withholding tax goes into effect on April 1 and declarations and quarterly payments of estimated tax are required to be made commencing June 15.

In order to avoid the payments of two years' taxes in one year, taxes on net income for the calendar year 1958 or for fiscal years ending in 1959 are cancelled. The tax on net capital gains has not been cancelled and returns of such tax are due June 15.

The exemptions allowed in computing 1959 income subject to tax also are changed. The New York Income Tax exemptions are conformed to the exemptions allowed for Federal Income Tax purposes.

Every taxpayer is allowed one exemption of $600 and an exemption of $600 is allowed for each dependent.

A tax credit of $10 is allowed single taxpayers and $25 to married taxpayers.

The maximum optional deductions allowed in place of all other deductions is increased from $500 to $1,000.

The withholding rates for this year will be one-third higher than normal, since withholding will not begin until April 1, 1959. The higher rate is necessary so that the full amount of the 1959 tax can be collected in nine months.

CATHOLIC CHARITIES

New York Catholic Charities this year embarks on its 40th annual fund appeal. Since its first appeal in successive drives $57,789,759 has been raised. With additional income from bequests and other sources, a total of $77,887,690 has been expended on its social services.

Through the central organization itself and through 192 member agencies an estimated 9,525,896 persons have benefited by Catholic Charities services. Covering an area of 4,717 square miles its services reach more than one fourth of the population of the Archdiocese, which includes Ulster County.

This year's appeal will be held from April 19 through April 29 for the house-to-house canvass of Catholic families in the 400 parishes of the Archdiocese by a corps of 16,000 volunteers.

The extent of the service achieved by this organization impels continued generous support from the public.

THOSE OTHER FRONTIERS

A motor caravan of families from the Detroit area headed for a new life in Alaska is living proof that the pioneering spirit is not dead. Though the conditions they face will not be as severe as those met by the pioneers of a century ago, it nevertheless can be said that here are some Americans willing to accept hardships as the price of greater opportunity.

The pity is that this spirit, which surely must lie dormant in many of us, is not applied more generally. For we all could be pioneers, in a sense, if only we would. New lands are not the only frontiers.

Most of us never dare to be intellectually or spiritually venturesome. We are content with old ideas, old attitudes; we are satisfied not to question or examine what we believe. Yet only through such questioning and reappraisal can there be any

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
STIRRING UP TROUBLE

The questionnaire writer is still busy stirring up trouble for innocent parents. I have before me a questionnaire, used in an American university. The one I have asks only 35 questions but it appears that there is a longer one that has 140 questions. Here are 10 samples of the questions asked:

"1. Have you been embarrassed because of the type of work your father does in order to support the family?"

"4. Has either of your parents insisted on your obeying him or her regardless of whether or not the request was reasonable?"

"8. Do you think your parents fail to recognize that you are a mature person and hence treat you as if you were still a child?"

"12. Does your mother tend to dominate your home?"

"13. Have your parents frequently objected to the kind of companions that you go around with?"

"17. Is either of your parents very easily irritated?"

"19. Has either of your parents certain personal habits which irritate you?"

"23. Have you disagreed with your parents about your life work?"

"27. Was your father what you would consider your ideal manhood?"

"31. Do you occasionally have conflicting moods of love and hate for members of your family?"

I picked these 10 questions out of 35 because nearly every child can answer them affirmatively at some stage. Sure mother dominates the home! Who else? Otherwise, children would be young anarchists.

In a full family, there is a mother, a father and children. Of course, mother and father sometimes disagree and all children believe that their parents are at times unreasonable. That is part of the process of growing up. When kids turn on the radio to blare horrible rock-n-roll music which is an insult to anyone's intelligence, naturally a father or a mother or both will, after a while, complain. Are they unreasonable? The first thing a child must learn—and it is something that is extremely hard to learn—is that when there is more than one person in a house, consideration for others is very important. And that sense of consideration, if lacking, makes of the unfortunate creature a boor whom others avoid. And apart from what such boorishness does to character, it also may produce economic, marital and other difficulties. It is the business of parents to teach that to children.

Let us look at the first question. Suppose that we were asked of Abraham Lincoln! Its absurdity lies in the fact that this country has no aristocracy and that the son of the lowliest may reach the highest station.

It has been the good fortune of the United States that it has had no hereditary aristocracy, no landed gentry, no elite by birth. At the beginning of this country, some feared that rich families would combine like fraternity brothers in campus politics, to dominate both the economic and political life of the country. This has not happened. With rare and outstanding exceptions, most rich men's sons have followed the playboy pattern, not imitating Harry Thaw of another generation but doing well enough in their own time and their own way. Aided by income and inheritance taxes, the American style of from shirt-sleeves to shirt-sleeves in three generations still holds.

No aristocracy, not even a monied one, forms itself in this country. New York and to a degree Palm Beach, Miami, Las Vegas and Beverly Hills have become playgrounds for the defrocked and exiled aristocracy of Europe, some of whom marry Americans for a respite from poverty. Others travel about this country, more or less on the cuff, serving as shills for various mercantile enterprises. But this is so small a group that its presence is barely noted except by peep-hole columnists. As aristocrats such persons are offensive to normal Americans who believe that equality of opportunity still rules our free society.

Question one in the above questionnaire is therefore not only an irritant in the household but offensive. Before child labor laws put a ceiling on juvenile ingenuity, children who were dissatisfied with family earnings could be newsboys or boot-blacks or do a hundred and one odd jobs to show their independence. In this socialistic era, they are required to be idle, listen to rock-n-roll, hang around a soda counter and call themselves Beatniks to prove that they hate themselves and the world. Dissatisfied kids should be given an opportunity to work off their beads.

Contact Lenses Have Definite Value as Aids to Better Sight

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Questions about the eyes are of enormous interest to all of us.

Q—Please say something about the use of contact lenses. Could these eventually cause cancer or cataracts?—L. K.

A—Contact lenses are ground to correct certain visual defects, such as nearsightedness, farsightedness and astigmatism, and are worn next to the eyeball. They are particularly useful for actors, athletes and others who need good vision without wearing the usual external glasses.

Many improvements in the use of contact lenses have been developed in recent years, but they are still more expensive than regular glasses. And, of course, they require considerably more care on the part of the user.

I have never seen any reports that they could cause cancer or cataracts. For selected people contact lenses have proved a boon.

Q—What causes heartburn? Will worry or emotional upset make it worse?—Mrs. C.

A—In most people the unpleasant burning sensation known as heartburn is caused by the regurgitation of small amounts of stomach acid into the lower part of the esophagus (the tube leading from the mouth to the stomach).

This can, of course, be caused by a physical abnormality or by disease, but it is by no means uncommon for heartburn to be associated with emotional disturbances. Consequently, worry could be a factor.

Q—If a husband has malaria, can children get it from him? In other words, is it contagious?—Mrs. E. L.

A—Malaria is not contagious in the ordinary sense of passing it from one person to another by simple contact. The parasite which causes malaria is in the blood and is usually transmitted from one person to another by a mosquito.

It can be transmitted by blood transfusion, but unless you are in an area where there are malaria-carrying mosquitos, or if your husband gives a blood transfusion to your children, there is little to fear.

Q—We have heard some people say that decaffeinated coffee is just as bad to drink as regular coffee. Can you explain the difference?—T. V. S.

A—Regular coffee contains a drug called caffeine, which exerts definite effects on the heart, the nervous system and some other bodily functions. This drug has certain medical uses, but can also be harmful to some people. The most common complaint is that it causes sleeplessness if drunk late in the day.

Decaffeinated coffee has most of the caffeine removed. Consequently, it is less harmful to a caffeine sensitive person.

real progress. There are frontiers, too, in the realm of the mind and the heart.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—Old-fashioned believers in saving your money and not buying anything till you have the cash to pay for it may well shake their heads in dismay. For it's now considered smart to be in debt.

The rapid increase in the use of credit cards for buying your supper, taking a trip or charging something in a store knows no limit. It's fashionable to buy now, pay later for everything from a vacation to college education.

The grand total of all public and private debt may reach the $900-billion-dollar mark by 1960. Private real estate credit reached a new high of 171 billion dollars at the end of 1958—nearly $1,000 per capita. Bank loans total over 220 billion. Stock market credit is approaching five billion.

Consumer credit for autos, household appliances, home modernization, personal loans and charge accounts is over the 45-billion-dollar mark for the first time. This is more than a 50 per cent increase since 1953. State and local government debt is $50 billion dollars.

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT contributes to the credit total by loans of nearly eight billion dollars for farmers, five billion for homeowners, a billion to large and small business and over nine billion to foreign borrowers.

And the total federal government debt is 286 billion. Two congressmen who were bothered by this last item introduced a bill the other day to reduce the national debt 1 per cent a year for the next century. It won praise as an exercise in quaint virtue. But it probably won't get anywhere because few people take it seriously. There is more pressure today to increase the national debt than cut it.

Dr. Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers was asked the other day if he considered a larger debt "dangerous." He replied that "dangerous" was not the word. The prospects for reducing the national debt in the future, he said, were incalculable and negligible. This from a Vermont Republican who regards himself as a conservative.

ONE PRINCIPAL REASON given for the Great Depression of 1930-40 was overexpansion of credit in boom years.

The theory now is that credit makes the wheels of business go round and that if all these debts were paid off, then there would be real cause for alarm.

Harvard economist Sumner Slichter not long ago defended the expansion of credit. He got jumped on for defying the homely precepts of thrift, but stuck to his guns.

The theory is that going into debt makes people thrifty. People work harder if they have debts to pay off. It's good for young married couples to have a mortgage on their home to pay off. If people had to save the money to pay for a trip in advance, they wouldn't go.

The American credit system is also the wheels of business go round and that if all these debts were paid off, then there would be real cause for alarm.

FROM THE BUSINESS POINT of view, it is argued a little extension of credit might be a good thing right now, to create greater demand for goods. That would help put people back to work and reduce today's unemployment of nearly five million workers down to a more manageable three million.

But wouldn't further expansion of credit be inflationary? Yes, it might. But why is inflation such a bad word? It should be more of a natural word.

This is apparently the new thinking of the time.

It isn't what most adults of today learned from their parents. And it isn't what you hear when President Eisenhower defends a balanced budget, the need for economy, frugality and avoidance of the evils of deficit spending.

Questions - - Answers

Q—How many Magi visited the Christ-child?

A—According to the Scriptures, all that is known is that the number was more than one. Some claim there were 15; others 12. But most persons believe that the well-known names of three represent the unknown number because of the three gifts (gold, frankincense and myrrh) presented to the Christ-child.

Q—What is the oldest lighthouse still in operation in the Western Hemisphere?

A—Sandy Hook lighthouse in New Jersey, built in 1764.

Q—Where is the Klondike region, scene of the great gold rush?

A—It is situated in the Yukon district of northwest Canada in the Yukon River basin.

Q—In the War Between the States, what was the first Union victory of any consequence?

A—The Battle of Philippi, which also marked the war's entry into what is now the state of West Virginia.

'Summit' Talks Labeled 'Surrender Conference'

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Is the world about to witness one of the biggest hoaxes of all times—another "summit conference?"

Although a foreign ministers' meeting is to be held in Geneva in May, its failure is anticipated already as the cry is raised for a "summit conference."

Dispatches from abroad indicate that Prime Minister Macmillan has been forced into a political corner on the issue and favors a conference of heads of states. Also in the United States certain anti-Administration spokesmen who are glib enough to believe the Soviets will make concessions are speaking out in favor of "summit conferences." In fact, it now is being suggested by chairman Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that such conferences be held twice a year as a regular procedure.

But the average man will ask: "What is there about a 'summit conference' that makes it such an attractive idea to its sponsors?"

So far as the Soviets are concerned, it gives them a propaganda show. The men in the Kremlin can thereby demonstrate to their own people how the rest of the world comes to them begging for crumbs at the table of discussion. As for the Allied side, it's a political issue in Great Britain, where the Socialist party pounds away at the Macmillan government by giving the impression that acceptance of a "summit conference" invitation means peace and that a refusal could lead to war.

Something of the same attitude characterizes the views of some opposition party leaders in the United States. Thus it is asserted Nikita Khrushchev has so much power that it is useless to talk to anyone else, and it is being said in addition that there is no "Number Two man." The inference is that Khrushchev must be humored, and that he alone can make a "deal."

Actually, a "summit conference" is about the last place in the world that any deal can be made between governments. It isn't a quiet, deliberative affair held in a secluded spot where there is an opportunity for reflective discussion by the four top men concerned. On the contrary, at a "summit conference" each of the heads of state has at his side half a dozen people— aides and advisers—plus clerks and stenographers. There's not much that's private when there are 30 or 40 people in a room. Surrounding the conference outside are at least 1,000 newsmen, photographers and broadcasters demanding public statements and pictures. It isn't a conference, but a carnival of publicity.

Easy to Pave Way
If the Soviet government really wants to draft some kind of agreement to settle the Berlin controversy, it needs only to call in the American or British or French ambassador at Moscow, and the way could be paved for such an accord. Also, a Foreign Ministers' conference furnishes every opportunity for an agreement to be consummated. Unless the one to be held in Geneva in May is successful, President Eisenhower sees little value in a "summit conference" later on.

The Soviets fully expect the West to yield to their demands. They look on democracies as weak, unstable, disunited countries which care more for material comforts than they do for principle. Unfortunately, this was the way things looked to the dictators in Europe in the 1930's, but when the chips were down the Allies fought a world war and won it.

History is repeating itself. A dictatorship is again miscalculating the strength and spirit of its adversaries. Weak-kneed persons on our side are giving aid and comfort to the Soviets by sniping at their own government from positions of prominence and influence in parliaments abroad and in our Congress at home. This is giving our potential enemies a basis for miscalculation. It could lead to the war everybody on the Western side is anxious to avoid.

Scraps of Paper

Whatever "agreements" might be proclaimed by the "summit conference" would not be worth the paper they would be written on. The 1954 "summit conference" agreed solemnly that there should be free elections to reunify Germany. Now, after nearly five years, the Soviets have torn up that pledge and the brazenly threatening war if their new demands for keeping Germany dismembered are not accepted.

Firmness by the West will alone save the world from another war. There is a stanch and courageous will to resist at the White House and in the leadership of our armed forces. But despite the honeyed words about unity that lately have come from Capitol Hill, the Soviets are convinced that the opposition party in the United States isn't really back to the American government. It's a mistaken belief, but judging from the utterances of some of the Democratic leaders and the qualifying phrases they use in giving lip service to national unity, the Moscow chieftain can readily get the idea that there's a real chance of wring concessions from the West. This could mean surrendering the military position which NATO has hitherto maintained in Western Europe as a safeguard against potential aggression.

"Summit conferences" should be realistically labeled "surrender conferences." For that's why the Soviets keep pressing them to be convened. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The international political mischief of the AFL-CIO has now become so impudent that it creates a danger of war among those Latin-American republics which reject the boss-system when George Meany endorsed when he sneaked into Sing Sing on two occasions to visit Joe Fay. A creature of that system, himself, Meany nevertheless spread a benison over the grand conclave of this gang in Puerto Rico. The "press" in the bloodier little patches of Latin-American sovereignty assumed that he somehow bore credentials from the workers of the colossus of the north in a word, other republics which the left are plotting invasion of Trujillo's Dominican Republic. This is but an extension, however, of Dave Dubinsky's political intrusions in Eastern Europe, France and North Africa, organized during the last 10 years by an unkind character called Irving Brown.

The choice of San Juan for the winter session of the AFL-CIO is an important sign in a political scheme to disrupt the peace of the Caribbean and, possibly, involvement of the United States.

In observing the stealthy work of the American union racket, I sometimes resort to the unguarded writings of "columnists" who are definitely sympathetic toward a sinister power which they piously refer to as "Labor."

Accordingly, let me quote from John Herling, who holds impalpable credentials from "Labor," as distributed by a New York package-goods house. "Here in Puerto Rico," he said, "spokesmen for U. S. labor are meeting between two Caribbean revolutions, one still on and the other yet to come." The one which is "still on" is Castro's, of course, originally based on Ybor City, a section of Tampa, which reached a climax of bloody lynching of brave patriots, sworn to put down armed insurrection, just as our own soldiers are so sworn. Many officials of unions in Tampa and Ybor City were aware of this felonious conspiracy on our own soil which sent men and weapons to attack the government of a sovereign sister republic.

The revolution "yet to come" means war on the Dominican Republic whose "benefactor" certainly is no more ruthless than a hundred scoundrels of the AFL-CIO who could be named off-hand. His loot, if any, is not comparable to that of many past and current henchmen of George Meany. In fact, by law, there is no certainty that he has stolen anything. He lives modestly, rides in one car, works long, hard days and his behavior is not dangerous. However, he has kicked the AFL-CIO out of the Dominican Republic year after year and for that reason he is a bad man, although his country is the most reliable anti-Communist fortress in this hemisphere.

"For many trade-unionists," Herling continued, "the character of the Castro revolution will be judged by the touchstone of revolutions—what kind of labor movement will emerge? Trujillo looks balefully at the AFL-CIO which he regards as the symbol of revolutionary aid to democratic forces in Latin America. Puerto Rico under the leadership of Governor Marin has become a haven of refuge and preparation for many revolutionary leaders. Puerto Rico has close historical relations with the American labor movement."

Herling reported that at the inauguration of President Betancourt of Venezuela the AFL-CIO had an official "representative," one Serafino Romualdi, who had the occasion was a dedication of "revolutionary forces" in "dictator-ridden" countries.

The calm effrontery of this partisan journalist in so disclosing a design for war by an absolutely unauthorized aggregation of racketeers is an unwitting alarm against the clients of his own solicitude. (Copyright, 1959, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

So They Say..

Give Youth a Mission

By FRANK TRIPP

What participation they will have to remember from their youth bothers youngsters far less than it does their elders. The kids have little chance to do things worth remembering. Youth has been legislated back into the cradle.

Just how they will associate themselves with this cockeyed era, say 20 years from now, would be mighty interesting to their granddads who will not be a round to grumble "I told you."

I'm one of the antiques who pity the generation now sprouting of a morning. To me, in the genuinely while things of life they arrived at least 20 years late and are getting a rotten deal.

I believe that half of what we call juvenile delinquency is no more than the popping of lively, normal kids' safety valves. Popped energy and ambition to get into the picture from which they have been excluded by laws, rules and conventions that say a human being is a child until he is past 18. It has become suspect to be a "teen-ager."

THE DO-GOODERS and theorists, mostly either childless or too busy raising other people's children, have robbed childhood and youth of the second most important factor in character-building—responsibility. Second only to faith and reverence.

There still is left to the conscientious parent the force of faith and reverence for God, and home, out of the days when every child began to assume responsibility as early as he could walk and understand discipline.

When faith and reverence are absent in the home, discipline (governed) gives way to the urge to defy and defeat the rules of law and society—and you have a "delinquent."

Once the safety valve pops, the blow-up may be anything from a rock through a window to murder. "Thou shalt not" in the Bible or in the statutes means no more than a challenge unless reverence or responsibility, or both, are established in the consciousness of the offender.

MODERN codes ignore that responsibility of the individual exists or can be taught to children.

They can master languages, the sciences, mathematics (everything except spelling), even be in college, sometimes married, before the law makes them completely responsible for their acts.

An absurd New York State law, effective in a few weeks unless repealed, would extend this irresponsibility to age 21. A grown man would be a "child," could invoke the coddling and leniency of children's courts, up to the very day he votes. How silly can legislators get?

THE ROOT of the evil is the exclusion of ambitious youth as participants in the evolution of life itself. They are not only held irresponsible, they are barred from jobs and activities, classified as child dependents (until want for war). Why wouldn't a lot of them blow their tops? Nobody answers that one.

Where the home and the church fail, or do not exist in the life and training of a child, the stupid laws complete the destruction of citizenship by giving little for a frustrated kid to do—except to haywire.

That's what I mean by what will today's kids remember about their youth, except "thou shalt not"? The Bible takes care of that, with volumes about "thou shalt."

THE OLD TIME home took care of it by "thou shalt make the beds, bring in the firewood, mow the lawn, shovel the walk; then get yourself a job, earn your own clothes; a buck a week to mom for your board—for soon, young fellow, you alone will be responsible for whatever becomes of you. You're on your own, kid."

Give youth productive things to do, and responsibility for their acts—and see this "juvenile delinquency" hysteria knocked into a cocked hat. What is left will be genuine criminals, not "delinquents."

2 Bishops From Other States Are In Line for Job

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Two suffragan bishops in other dioceses are among four leaders of the Episcopal Church nominated for bishop coadjutor of the diocese of Central New York.

The Rt. Rev. Donald J. Campbell, 56, of Los Angeles and the Rt. Rev. Philip F. McNairy, 48, of Minnesota, were two of four nominations announced Saturday.

The other three were the Rev. R. Keith, 48, of New Britain, Conn., and the Rev. John V. Butler, 53, of Princeton, N. J., both rectors of large churches.

The man selected will succeed the Rt. Rev. Malcolm E. Peabody, present bishop of the Central New York diocese, when Peabody returns in 1960.

The four were chosen by a nominating committee appointed after a convention in May 1958. Their names will be presented at a convention in St. Paul's Church in Syracuse May 7-8. Others may be nominated from the floor.

Crisis Prompts Soul Searching Present U.S. Superiority Is Accepted, Future Questioned

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Out of the intense soul searching forced on this country by the Berlin crisis have come self-confident revelations about the present and deeply troubling questions about the future.

These revelations—to give a total picture—have had to be fitted together from various statements by President Eisenhower and his top military advisers.

They could be wrong. They might prove erroneous in case of war—since the Soviets then would have to be heard from—but here they are:

1. Eisenhower himself last week said we certainly won't fight a land war with the Soviets. They outnumber us on the ground.

2. "Why in the world would we dream of fighting a ground war?" he asked. "You have got to have other means."

3. Earlier this month Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy said we have "offensive superiority over the Soviets at this time."

4. Since we could not win on land but have offensive superiority then the only way we could fight a war is with planes using nuclear bombs.

Eisenhower has not ruled out nuclear weapons. McElroy has emphasized American dependence on its bombers.

Ability Questioned

But Democratic leaders—even though seeming to accept the idea of American superiority at present—question our ability to stay ahead.

They question Eisenhower's wisdom in not putting more money and effort into defense—looking years ahead—since the Soviets are pushing missile development and missiles may make bombers obsolete.

Boy, 11, Is Rescued From Slime Pit

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—"It looked solid, but all of a sudden I was up to my hips in mud. I couldn't move and I began to yell."

That's what Mark Armesto, 11, said Sunday after he was rescued from a slime pit along the shore of a lake in Delaware Park.

Mark had been strolling along the shore when he suddenly began sinking. He was up to his waist when passers-by heard his shouts and pulled him out of the muck.

Police said sewage draining into the lake over the years had left slime six feet deep where he fell.

"Medically, I was OK," said Mark after a hospital examination. "But I needed a bath, I guess."

Collie Dog Stolen In Rifton Found On Bronx Bridge

A collie dog reported stolen about two weeks ago from Mrs. Dora Mahler of Rifton was picked up on the Bronx-Whitestone Bridge a few days ago by a Long Island woman.

Mrs. Charles Salerno of Huntington Station, L. I., checked the dog's license tag and notified Albany which reported that the animal was owned by Mrs. Mahler. She then wrote to Mrs. Mahler that she had the dog.

Mrs. Salerno told Mrs. Mahler that she noticed the dog chasing her car as she drove across the bridge. She stopped, opened the door and the animal jumped in.

The dog, Tanner by name, was returned to its owner by the driver of a milk tanker coming up from Long Island. The driver of the tanker was contacted by Joseph Ferace of Rifton, a friend of Mrs. Mahler, who asked him to stop and pick up the animal on his next run.

Lockport Lumber Fire Does $100,000 Damage

LOCKPORT, N. Y. (AP)—Firemen fought a losing battle in gale winds Sunday night against flames raging through a lumber company building just south of this city.

The fire destroyed the Sunrise Lumber and Supply Co. at an estimated loss of $100,000.

Gusts of over 60 miles an hour tore pieces of wood from the 1½-story stone building and hurled them through the air.

Five volunteer fire companies fought the blaze. No one was hurt.

The cause was not immediately determined.

Norman Corrie of Lockport, the company owner, estimated the damage.

Anything for Extra Trick

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The bidding of today's hand is quite interesting. South's take-out double was slightly shaded if not downright unsound.

North's three club bid forced South to choose a suit and after he bid three hearts North put him in game.

West opened the three of clubs. East won with the queen and continued with the king. West dropped the deuce and dummy ruffed.

A low trump lead produced East's king. South took his ace, ruffed his last club and remarked, "A man will do anything for an extra trick."

West had shown five clubs and four hearts. East was marked with 4-4-1 distribution so West had to hold doubletons in spades and diamonds.

South was sure enough of his count to risk his contract for that extra trick and led a low diamond from dummy. East held the trick with the nine and led

"Circles and Detects like Radar"

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—It would be a favor to a gentle fellow named Bob Keeshan if you would fail to explain to the youngest members of the household that a gentle television character named Captain Kangaroo is also Keeshan.

"Absolutely no good comes of it," says Keeshan. "Either the children are disappointed that Captain Kangaroo is not actually Captain Kangaroo or else they think their parents are lying. It's like learning that there is no Santa Claus."

1,001 Show Today

Today "Captain Kangaroo" offered its 1,001st program on CBS-TV at the new hour of 8:15 a.m. (EST). In an age when television programming has largely decided to ignore the youngest children, it remains the only children's show appearing six days a week on any of the networks.

This program is a hardy plant thriving among the sagebrush and exotic orchids of today's "adult" television entertainment. It has garnered awards and high praise from educators and parents — to say nothing of the children themselves.

Show Loses Money

As Keeshan quickly points out, the program's longevity is thanks to the enthusiasm of CBS-TV and many of its affiliated stations. For the sad truth is that "Captain Kangaroo" loses money. Recently a CBS spokesman said the network loses more than one million dollars a year on the show.

Happily, however, there is every indication that "Captain Kangaroo" will continue to be with us and the children for a long time to come. The problem in children's TV programming these days is that the sponsor dollars have switched to a so-called mature audience in an age of rapidly rising TV production costs.

Pressed to analyze the character of Captain Kangaroo, Keeshan, father of three preschool age children said:

"Captain Kangaroo treats children as intelligent human beings and never talks down to them. He is not afraid to ask them to think. And he believes that they have good taste. He likes people in general and children in particular."

THE ICE MAKER
In 1845, Dr. John Gorrie, of Apalachicola, Florida, built the first successful ice-making machine in America. Dr. Gorrie used his invention to cool the rooms of patients stricken with fever. His statue can be seen in Statuary Hall in the Capitol at Washington, D. C.

A teacher in one of the public schools of Baltimore was one day instructing her pupils in the mysteries of etymology, when she had occasion to question a boy pupil with reference to the word "recuperate."

Teacher--As an example we will take the case of your father. He is, of course, a hard-working man.
Charley--Yes'm.
Teacher--And when night comes, he returns home tired and worn out, doesn't he?
Charley--Yes'm.
Teacher--Then it being night, his work being over, and he being tired and worn out, what does he do?
Charley--That's what ma wants to know.

A 10-year-old lad was asked by his mother what he had learned at Sunday school.
Lad--Well, our teacher told us about when God sent Moses behind the enemy lines to rescue the Israelites from the Egyptians. When they came to the Red Sea, Moses called for the engineers to build a pontoon bridge. After they had crossed, they looked back and saw the Egyptian tanks coming. Moses radioed headquarters on his walkie-talkie to send bombers to blow up the bridge and saved the Israelites.
Mother--Bobby! Is that really the way your teacher told you that story?
Bobby--Well, not exactly. But

It was announced that the newly-formed Sweetmobile will soon be selling all home-made desserts and candies. Mrs. Margaret Glass is chairman of this project.

Mrs. Popplewell and Mrs. Erna Levens were named co-chairmen of the local sewing contest which will be held in the near future to pick a contestant for the state sewing contest scheduled at Saugerties in April. More information will be released later.

Committee Plans Wendy Improvements

Plans for several improvements to the Girl Scout Camp Wendy at Wallkill made by a committee headed by Mr. Robert Greene of Woodstock have received the enthusiastic approval of the Board of Directors.

Mrs. Greene was given a unanimous vote of confidence and pledges of support by the Board members at a recent meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The plans are designed to meet the needs of the increasing Scout membership and for a year-round program. The plans were developed after intensive research, numerous planning sessions, committee work meetings, attendance at Camp Development conferences of the American Camping Association in New York City and consultation with National Staff members.

Mrs. Greene reported that local civic-minded persons aided. A survey of the camp property was made by August Brinnier; a title search by lawyer James Plunket, architectural plans and designs by Albert Milliken, Kingston architect and sketches and maps were made by John Pike well-known Woodstock artist. The development is planned in four stages over three years.

Edmund Gilligan Guest Speaker At Square Club

EDMUND GILLIGAN

Edmund Gilligan, noted Woodstock author and authority on conservation topics, will address the Woodstock Square Club Thursday, March 19 at firemen's hall at 8 p. m.

Gilligan, who is rod and gun editor of the New York Herald-Tribune, will speak on one of his favorite topics: "Grand Banks Fishing."

A nationally famous author and magazine writer, Gilligan has also been prominent in the conservation field. He has strongly deplored the destruction of the fisheries off the Grand Banks of Newfoundland by modern fishing appliances, charging that the New England fisheries were also destroyed by "political actions."

Gilligan has strong convictions about the Grand Banks situation and he has been an outspoken foe of what happened there. His talk is expected to touch on other phases of conservation topics affecting New York state and the area.

Reds Gain Seats On French Town Council Ballot

PARIS (AP)—Returns from the final round in France's two-stage municipal elections showed today that the Communists held their own or forged ahead in most of the key town councils.

Voters in 17,760 communities turned out Sunday to finish the job they began a week ago under a new electoral system tailored to trim communism's grass roots hold on the electorate.

Despite a week of maneuvering alliances, the anti-Communists failed to cut deep into the Red representation.

A check of the largely pro-Communist working class suburbs of Paris indicated the Reds had recaptured 26 of the 28 local councils they controlled after the last municipal elections in 1953. They lost one town hall and returns from the 28th were not yet available.

Gain in Seine
The Reds also picked up at least four seats in the council of the Seine Department, which embraces the entire Paris region. The Communists now will have 59 of the 150 members.

In France's 13 largest cities elections were completed last week with a proportional 4-seat system that gave the Reds a boost in total number of seats as well as the increased vote percentage they won. The Communists captured 160 seats as compared with 155 in the 1953 municipal elections.

About 20,000 communities using the two-round system also completed their election March 8 by giving the favored candidates a majority of all votes cast. Where no candidates got a first round majority, a second vote was necessary with the seats going to the top men.

Local issues and personalities dominated most campaigns. Non-Communist parties usually made alliances on either the first or second rounds to oppose the Reds.

Former Foreign Minister Christian Pineau, trying for a comeback after defeat for re-election as deputy, failed to win a seat as municipal councillor in Le Mans. Pineau is a Socialist.

Purchase Diner
Cy's Diner, 59 Market Street, Poughkeepsie, was sold Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Greenberg of that city to Anthony Bliziotis, 145 Montgomery Street, Poughkeepsie, and Steve Mattes, 193 Clinton Avenue, Kingston, and Chrysostomos, of 24 Henry Street, this city.

Tips Offered on Filing For Federal Income Tax

Editors note — Still puzzled about some points in your federal income tax? You may find the answers in this and succeeding articles which explain the subject in simple, understandable language. Today's installment, first of five, deals with filing procedure and the income you must report.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is an ABC on filing your 1958 income tax return. The deadline is midnight, April 15.

Claim all the exemptions and deductions you're entitled to. They'll reduce your tax.

Report only taxable income, not the nontaxable kind. There's a difference, explained later. Example: Social Security benefits are nontaxable.

Attach W-2 Forms

Other things to remember:

1. Attach to your return all the W-2 receipts given you by employers for tax withheld from you during 1958.

2. Many people from past years have refunds coming to them but can't get them because the Internal Revenue Service doesn't know who they are or where they live. Their names and addresses were illegible. Write yours clearly.

3. Be sure you have the instruction sheet which IRS is supposed to send every taxpayer. It is full of information.

It also has the tax-table and tax-rate schedule for figuring your tax unless you're one of those with under $5,000 income who uses form 1040A and lets the IRS figure the tax for you.

Who Must File

You must file a return if you owe tax if you were under 65 in 1958 — this includes children — and had taxable income of $600 or more.

A person over 65 — you could have reached 65 as late as Jan. 1, 1959 — must file a return if he had taxable income of $1,200 or more, whether or not he owes tax.

If you had income but it was under the amount required for filing — and if tax was withheld from you — you are entitled to a refund. But the only way you can get it is by filing a return and claiming it.

As noted above, a child who had $600 or more taxable income must file a return. The parent is responsible for seeing to it that this is done.

Exception to Rule

There's an exception to the rules listed above: a self-employed person must file a return and pay a self-employment tax (really a Social Security tax) if his net earnings were $400 or more in 1958.

Some Taxable Incomes

Here are examples of taxable income which must be reported:

Wages, salaries, rents, bonuses, fees, interest on savings accounts and U.S. savings bonds, dividends from stocks (so-called dividends from building and loan associations on savings accounts are actually interest and must be reported as such), tips, gambling winnings, commissions, profits from sale or exchange of property, strike benefits paid by unions, profits from a farm, business or profession, income from estates or trusts, severance pay.

Nontaxable Income

Here are examples of nontaxable income which doesn't have to be reported as income:

State or federal Social Security benefits; unemployment compensation paid by a state (although supplemental unemployment benefit payments from a company-financed supplemental unemployment benefits funds are taxable income); public assistance payments to the blind; life insurance proceeds paid because of the death of the insured (unless the policy was transferred to you for a valuable consideration); gifts in money or anything of value for which you performed no service; interest on state and municipal bonds; subsistence and rental allowances to members of the armed forces; veteran benefits from the Veterans Administration to veterans and their families; disability pay and pension pay received by veterans for service connected and non-service connected disabilities.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices averages keep on climbing to new heights to the fascination of most and the amazement of many.

Among the reasons offered there is one that is quite tangible—corporate profits have been climbing, too. And many company executives are predicting still better days ahead.

Evident in Late '58

This is something that Wall Street understands even better than it does such a psychological reason as the wide belief that continuing inflation is now written into the American economy, or a technical reason as that growing investment and pension funds have more money to put to work.

The upward swing in profits was evident in the final months of 1958, when they advanced sharply from the summer months. The profit again was steeper than that in industrial production. It contrasted sharply with unemployment, which has stayed stubbornly high.

That the profit trend is carrying over into the first quarter of 1959 is shown in the first reports by corporations whose fiscal year ends before the calendar year, and whose 1959 first quarter is now a matter of record.

Some 28 of these have reported on earnings so far, and 21 of them show gains over the same three months of the previous year. For most of them, true, the 1959 results are weighted by comparison with a very bleak period a year ago.

Biggest Strike-Report

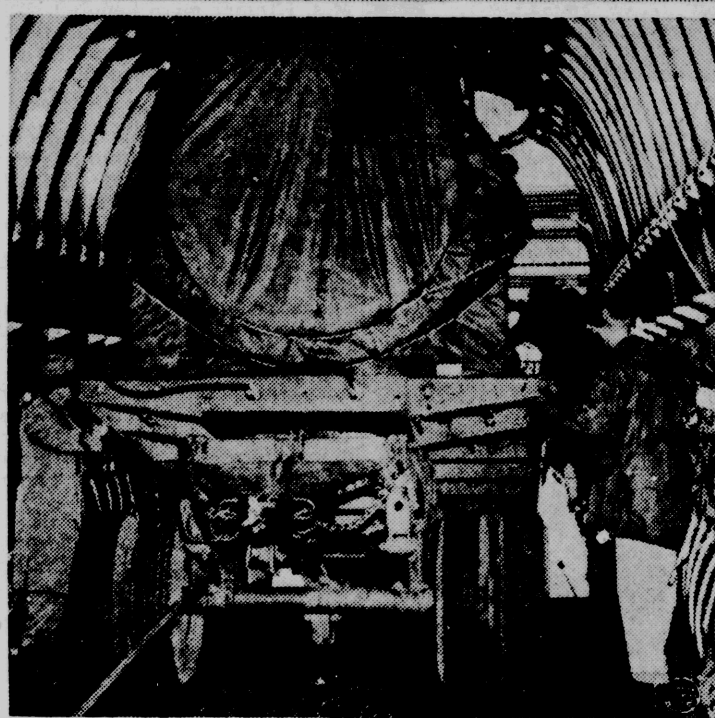

But of the seven who bound a decline last time, the sharpest and largest drop is that of a farm equipment company that was strike bound through most of the 1959 first quarter. International Harvester, which made 6 1/2 mil-

Seaway Will Give Big Impetus: Rocky

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The St. Lawrence Seaway "will give a tremendous impetus to economic expansion in our state," Gov. Rockefeller said today.

Rockefeller proclaimed 1959 as "Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway Year," acting in concert with governors of seven other states bordering the Great Lakes.

Great Lakes commerce, Rockefeller said, "will contribute in no insignificant measure to the prosperity and economic well-being of millions of Americans."

Missile Movers

Heavily padded Army Redstone missile is eased aboard an Air Force Globemaster in Detroit, top.

Missile transportation experts work carefully, left, to get the huge weapon in position inside the aircraft. It is tied down securely for the flight to Florida. It'll be tested at Cape Canaveral.

Think It Through

E. F. HUTTON

Up in North Country, it's a sovereign remedy for a horse with a toothache to drop a bean down his ear. That makes him forget his toothache and pull real good.

And so, dearly beloved, when the pain of Uncle's income tax becomes acute, on April 15, think of the many other tax beans that are being dropped down your ear.

States, counties, cities and towns are having hard sledding and need your help real bad. They followed the Pied Piper of Washington to the brink. Look at their deficits: New York, about 191,000,000 $'s; California, 68,000,000 $'s; Massachusetts, 35,000,000 $'s; Michigan 110,000,000 $'s; Pennsylvania, 100,000,000 $'s; Texas, 65,000,000 $'s.

These are some of the richest States in the Union. They want you who live in them to pay their creditors for them, as they, for a thousand excellent reasons, spent more than they had.

So they, and most of the others, are asking you to kindly pay more taxes on your income, gasoline, automobiles, cigarettes, pipe tobacco, beer, soft drinks, poll, restaurant meals, horse-rake, real estate and your inheritance from Aunt Maud.

By spreading it around thin—this way, you will scarcely feel it! Of course, none of them will reduce spending as they know you want whatever they decide you should have.

But, neighbor, don't worry. If they finally take all you've got, Uncle will take care of you!

MR. HUTTON

Workers Go Back at Bell Aircraft After Week's Strike

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Production workers at Bell Aircraft Corp. went back to work today, ending a week-long strike in a contract dispute.

About 1,500 United Auto Workers at eight plants in the Niagara Frontier had been idled by the walkout. Members of Local 501 voted Sunday night 510-266 to accept a new 26-month agreement. The old contract expired March 1.

The union accepted elimination of a full-time 11-man workers bargaining committee and agreed to a reduction from 41 to 22 in the number of union members dealing with the company on grievance matters.

Also included in the package was a two per cent general wage increase, but it was disagreement on the non-economic issue that had held up an earlier settlement. The old wage scales were not disclosed.

The union had worked a week without a contract, then voted eight days ago to go on strike. There were no disturbances during the walkout period.

A MOST DISAGREEABLE SITUATION

Dear Mrs. Post: The other afternoon I went to visit a friend. When the hostess ushered me into the living room, a Mrs. "A," with whom I am not on speaking terms, was also there.

When I saw her, I did not sit down but turned to the hostess and said that I would be in to see her another time, and left promptly. I have since heard that my friend thought me very rude for walking out. Don't you think I was justified in doing what I did and that she was the one who was really at fault for not telling me that Mrs. "A" was there when she let me in?

Answer: If your friend knew you were not on speaking terms with the woman who was there, she should have warned you so that you could have come some other time. If she did not know, you should have made an exception and said, "how do you do?" and one or two impersonal remarks to the woman you dislike, before remembering an important appointment that you had to hurry to.

A Forgotten Tip

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just recently returned home from visiting friends for a weekend and in my rush to catch the train, I forgot to tip the maid before I left. She was very kind to me and went out of her way to make me comfortable. Is there anything I could do for her now?

Answer: Buy her a present and send it with a note telling her that you appreciate all that she did to make you comfortable during your visit.

Fitting Cloth to Table

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me how far over the edge of the table the cloth should hang?

Answer: Fifteen inches over the edge of a small table and 18 inches over a large one is about right. A difference in size would better be less rather than more.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-19, entitled, "Mistakes Made in Name of Etiquette," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. How to Get a Raise

Next to How to Get a Husband, most of our secretaries think their biggest problem is how to get a raise. Almost a fool-proof answer to the raise problem is set forth in the current issue of Today's Secretary, McGraw-Hill magazine, in a prescribed procedure which, if it does not win a raise directly, will at least contribute toward getting one quicker.

First, the magazine tells what NOT to do. Don't try any of these six approaches:

The Subtle Hint: It's so hard to make ends meet these days, isn't it, Mr. Bank? ... the cost of living has gone up again and my landlord is raising the rent. I wonder where it will all end?

The Poor-Little-Me Approach: Easter is coming and I just can't afford that suit I saw downtown. (or) I thought I could go to California on my vacation, but I guess I can't afford it.

Petulant You-Promised Approach: You said if the Smith and Smythe deal went through that I might get a raise, and that was over three months ago.

All-the-Other-Girls Approach: Betty told me she got a $5 raise this week, and so did Mary, and I started at less than either of them.

The Old-Dog-Tray Approach: You wouldn't remember, of course, Mr. Blank, but then nobody has been around this office as long as I have.

Out-and-Out Blackmail Approach: I've been offered another job at a better salary, and with an electric typewriter. Timing is important also, says Today's Secretary. There are certain times when approaching the great man with a request for a raise would be sheer folly. You would not, for example, pop the vital question just as he's about to dash off to a meeting with the Big Boss. Neither will you nab him when he's tired, hungry, annoyed with the B.B., annoyed with his wife, annoyed with his best friend, his best customer, himself ... or annoyed with you.

Of course it's better to ask for a raise when the company is doing well, not when a periodic "economy wave" shows you that business is bad.

And now that you know what not to do, Today's Secretary has excellent advice on what you should do, and that is, be as businesslike in asking for a raise as your boss is in presenting a sales pitch to a prospective customer. Give him a summary of the year's work you have engaged in setting down the more outstanding results so far as your personal contributions are concerned.

What new responsibilities did this job teach you to assume? What new skills have you added to your repertoire? (Editing speeches, making charts and graphs.)

Have you saved him any money? Through suggestions or short-cuts; through utilizing idle equipment; through assuming a true executive-assistant's role?

Have you contributed any constructive ideas, found any mistakes in advertisements, offered any helpful suggestions or advice to those who work with you?

You got the idea. A concise, simply prepared report, accompanied by a brief resume of your length of service, starting salary and any previous increases will delight your boss. Very likely he has never stopped to analyze the many ways in which you have helped him to do his job.

"And as you transcribe this report," Today's Secretary says, "you will have the tremendous satisfaction of knowing that you have earned that raise by your steadfast devotion to your job, your enthusiasm and interest, and your determination to become a responsible part of management."

... not merely as a pat-on-the-head because you've been around so long."

Look for Quietest Village Election; Polls Open Noon

Political observers in Saugerties are looking for one of the quietest village elections in many years Tuesday. As Mayor George P. Holmes and his Independent Party slate of three trustees are running unopposed, their election, a mere formality, will be official when the polls close at 9 p. m.

The polls in the village trustee rooms of the municipal building will be open at 12 noon.

Incumbents Frank Short, Elton L. Johnson, and Sheldon Longendyke, Independent Party chairman are running for trusteeships.

Election inspectors will be Edwin Schoonmaker, chairman; George Minard Van Valkenburg, and John Hennehan.

Machine custodians are Percy Dederick and Edward N. Flanagan. Machine tenders are Mrs. Catherine Van Gaasbeek and Kenneth Brown.

The results of the election were known as early as February 24 when a Citizen's Protective Party statement issued by former mayor Arthur F. Simmons declared that the CPP's would not enter a slate of candidates this year.

In 1957 Holmes defeated Simmons 1,110 to 634. In 1955 Simmons defeated Holmes, the incumbent mayor by a scant 41 votes.

Mayor Holmes will be starting his fifth term.

The film is 27 minutes in length and was professionally produced for use in churches by Film Productions International.

Chowder Sale Set At W. Camp Friday

The demand far exceeded the supply during the West Camp clam chowder sale Friday, and another sale is scheduled for this Friday. The popular Lenten food will be ready at West Camp parish hall between 2:30 and 3:30 p. m.

More than 200 clubs were made by the Couple's Club with the help of some members of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, and according to Daniel Wynne, club president orders that came in too late could not be filled.

The couples of the church will again meet Thursday night to prepare another batch. Mrs. Ruth Prendergast of West Camp will again lend her culinary artistry to the project.

Phone orders are being taken by Mrs. Wynne at West Camp on the Saugerties telephone exchange, and by Mrs. John Engelin of Cementon on the Catskill exchange.

The Mature Parent

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Children Fob for Same Reason Parents Lie to Bill Collector

Calling Mort downstairs, his mother said, "I gave you four cookies in your lunchbox. Did you take the others I was saving for Buddy? I can't find the bag on my shelf."

Complained Mort, "Is that what you called me downstairs for? No, I didn't. What would I want with Bud's cookies?"

Later his mother found the crumpled cookie bag under his bed. After a scene involving his father, threats and tears, he confessed his lie.

This morning his mother forgot her promise to pay the milkman. But when he asked for his money, she didn't confess her forgetfulness. She lied. She said, "I'm sorry. I had the cash in my purse for you but had to give it to my husband."

All of us, grownups and children, lie for the same reason. We need to pretend that we are people we are not.

Mort lied out of his need to pretend he'd respected Buddy's rights. His mother lied out of her need to pretend she's kept a promise. Both dissatisfied with themselves as they were, claimed to be people they were not.

If we know the cause behind our own lies, we just can't make threatened scenes over children's lies.

In the child who has to pretend he considered his brother's rights, we see the same fear of appearing mean, selfish, forgetful or otherwise disappointing that compels us to use lies that will make us look irreproachable.

We know what the fear's about. So we don't get excited and we don't make scenes. We just say, "You took Buddy's cookies because you wanted them. What I want to know is why was wanting his cookies so awful that you have to pretend you didn't want them?" It's our ability to tolerate Mort that will enable him to tolerate himself and say, "O.K., O.K. I took them, Mother."

Lies are denials of what we are. That's what makes them so uncomfortable. But if we've freed ourselves from the need to appear more virtuous than we are, we know how to free children from the need to pretend to be more obedient and considerate than they are.

Canadiens Win Amateur Hockey Championship

PRAGUE (AP)—The Belleville McFarlands of Canada today are probably the unhappiest world amateur hockey champions in the sport's history.

The Canadians won their second straight world title Sunday night although they suffered a 5-3 loss to Czechoslovakia.

"They desire full credit," Coach Ike Hildebrand of the Canadians said of Czechoslovakia's victory. But he seemed as stunned as his players.

The McFarlands went into the final game assured of the world title if they could hold Czechoslovakia to less than a seven-goal victory. No one expected them to lose, although they admittedly were tired after playing 28 games, including exhibitions, in the last six weeks.

The Canada team thus won from Russia on a goal basis. Each team was 4-1. Canada scored 21 goals while permitting seven, while Russia scored 20 and allowed 10.

Spring Lakers Receive Awards

Members of the Bob Pardee Spring Lakers squad of the Town of Ulster Junior basketball league were awarded prizes at the first Father and Son banquet Saturday night at the Spring Lake firehouse.

Ted Musialkiewicz, league president, awarded the individual trophies to the following boys: John Breann, Victor Herdman, Jackie Bantz, Bob Bantz, Chet Joy Jr., and Billy Bruce.

Following the highly successful dinner, Chet Joy showed a film on the art of fishing and Jules Albertini showed one on general sports. Both films were instructional and enjoyable.

Plans for the 1959-60 season were discussed and it was decided to plan a meeting in September. The league anticipates that several new boys will register necessitating the organization of many additional teams.

Columbia Grid Coach

Buff Donelli Slated to Speak At St. Ignatius Vets Breakfast

"Aldo 'Buff' Donelli, head football coach at Columbia University, will be the guest speaker at the third annual Communion breakfast of the St. Ignatius Loyola Post No. 1769, Catholic War Veterans, scheduled for Sunday, April 5. The members will receive Communion at the 8 o'clock Mass at St. Joseph's Church and the breakfast will be served at the Kingston Hotel at 9 a. m.

After graduation, Buff became freshman football coach and in 1939 was appointed head coach. He produced an unbeaten team that year and during the first three seasons as head coach his teams won 23, lost one and tied one.

Following war-time service with the Navy, he became gridiron coach at Boston University. At present he holds the job of Coach Donelli is married and has two children. His son Richard quarterbacked the varsity team at Columbia this past season.

Baseball Notes

Don Larson Hurts Arm

By MIKE RATHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Three of major league baseball's top performers today stood ready to testify that play during the exhibition season is just as rugged as during the regular campaign.

Willie Mays, San Francisco outfielder sidelined with a split leg; Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees, who spent valuable time on the bench with a shoulder injury; and the Yankees' Don Larsen, latest of spring training's major casualties, all have irrefutable evidence about the perils of play along the Cactus and Grapefruit trail.

Larsen, only pitcher to fashion a perfect game in the World Series, had to quit with a shoulder injury while the St. Louis Cardinals were ripping his pitching for a 10-3 victory over the world champions Sunday.

While throwing to Ken Boyer in the third, Larsen suddenly felt a sharp pain dart in his pitching shoulder. He concluded the inning Sharp Pain — in which he gave up six runs — and then retired. It is uncertain how long Larsen will be shelved. Elsewhere, Cleveland's Indians were taking care of the last undefeated team, edging Boston 5-4. The Red Sox had won seven straight.

In other games, Los Angeles nipped Washington 2-1, Milwaukee thumped Cincinnati 11-5, Philadelphia bombed Pittsburgh 13-8, Baltimore defeated Kansas City 9-6 and Detroit edged Chicago's White Sox 2-1. The San Francisco Chicago Cub game at Yuma, Ariz., was canceled due to high winds.

Cleveland won in the last of the ninth when Red Sox second baseman Pumpsie Green batted a double play ball, allowing Jimmy Piersall to score with the winning run.

The combined two-hit pitching of Danny McDevitt and Bill Harris gave the Dodgers their seventh-inning victory over Washington in a game curtailed by rain.

Third Win

The Braves won their third game in eight outings with solid clubbing by two supposedly light hitters. Felix Mantilla stroked two doubles and a pair of singles and batted in two runs while Billy Bruton accounted for three RBIs with three hits.

Valmy Thomas' three-run homer and Harry Anderson's four RBIs paced Philadelphia's 15-hit attack against Pittsburgh.

Jerry Walker, 20-year-old Oriole pitcher, limited Kansas City to three hits after taking over in the third while Gus Triandos supplied the winning runs with a three-run homer in the sixth.

Gus Zernial's ninth-inning home run with one aboard ended a two-game losing streak for the Tigers.

Oster Fails

Jerry Oster, the Kingston ace, failed miserably in defense of his title. He was last in the field of 12 finalists and his best effort was the monkeywrench he solo. Jerry couldn't hit the pocket with consistency and he was never in the running.

The title was decided on Peterson points. A bowler gets one point for each 50 pins knocked down and one point for each win. The highest bowler doesn't always come out on top. It's just a matter of winning the games at the right time.

Crisci will now enter the New York State finals at White Plains next month. In addition he wins a cash award.

Newburgh Star Defeats Manfro In Final Line

Shooting his best when the pressure was on, Al J. Crisci won the New York State Bowling Proprietors' Match Game championship yesterday at the Central Rec alleys by turning back Charley Manfro of Kingston in the last game of the day.

The Newburgh star fired a blistering 246 in the game that decided the winner and Manfro could only hit 167 to drop him from second place to third in the final standings.

Following Crisci was Jake Charter, the laughing boy from Poughkeepsie. Jake was in contention all the way and the big blast by Crisci in his final effort ruined whatever hopes Charter and the other keggers had. Manfro was behind Charter and following Charley were Larry Petersen of Kingston, Phil Versace of Poughkeepsie, Buster Ferraro of Kingston.

Versace was the only bowler to average more than 200 at the Central Rec alleys. Phil had a 265 blast and finished with 1227 sticks for the day, an average of slightly under 205. However, Versace could only win two of the six games he rolled and it cost him the title.

Started in First

Crisci started the day in first place by virtue of his six straight victories the week before at Dover Plains. He was out of the lead only twice. After the third game, Charter went into first place. However, Jake lost his fourth effort of the day to Buster Ferraro and the TV idol went ahead for a game.

Manfro came on with a rush and after 11 games had been rolled (including the six last week), Charley was only 14 pins behind Crisci. It meant the winner of the final game between the two would capture the crown.

It was close for the five frames. Then Crisci started to put his strike ball to work and he went all the way out with his last six balls for the brilliant 246 effort. There was very little doubt after the seventh frame who the winner was.

Oster Fails

Jerry Oster, the Kingston ace, failed miserably in defense of his title. He was last in the field of 12 finalists and his best effort was the monkeywrench he solo. Jerry couldn't hit the pocket with consistency and he was never in the running.

Moore, Bassey Slated to Meet For Featherweight Crown

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Davey Moore attempts Wednesday night to become the second member of the great American Olympic boxing team of 1952 to win a world professional championship.

The fast, hard-hitting Olympian from Springfield, Ohio, takes on World Featherweight Champion Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria in a 15-round title scrap at the Los Angeles Olympic Auditorium. The bout, starting at 10 p. m. EST, will be telecast coast to coast (ABC).

Floyd Patterson won the Olympic 165-pound crown in Finland in 1952 and went on to capture the pro heavyweight title.

Bassey Favored

Bassey, winner of his last 11 fights, is a 6-5 choice over the No. 1 contender, who has swept his last 13 scraps. The muscular little champion has a 54-10 record, including 20 knockouts. Moore's record is 35-5-1, including 15 kayos. Each stands 5-3 and, for little men, hit with authority.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

FORT MYERS, Fla. — (NEA) — With Frank Thomas traded to the Reds, Richard L. Stuart looks like a California redwood in the now ambitious Pirates' plans.

Dick Stuart must supply right-hand thump, for Danny Murtaugh admits his club could not have made the remarkable run of last season without him.

This is the same Stuart considered to be a bit whacky when he showed up here two years ago.

I asked Murtaugh if young Stuart had straightened out.

"I DON'T KNOW WHETHER he has or not, but he straightens that ball out pretty good," replied Pittsburgh's 1958 Manager of the Year. "I don't know about his attitude, but the attitude has changed."

When Stuart first showed up on this lovely bank of the Loxahatchie River in the spring of 1957, he was a recruit out of San Carlos, Calif., who had manufactured 66 home runs for Lincoln of the Western League and didn't mind letting all hands know he could hit a ball from town to town.

Almost at once, he became baseball's most colorful character since Dizzy Dean, the most controversial since Ted Williams first popped up at Sarasota.

When exhibition games started, a Fort Myers jeweler offered $5 to the Pirate belting the first home run. In his first trip to the plate, Stuart hit the first ball pitched to him over the trees in back of the left field fence.

To their astonishment, the writers in the press coop atop the little Terry Park grandstand almost immediately found themselves being tapped on the shoulder.

"Where's my $5?" demanded Stuart.

THE PIRATES KIDDED STUART about his boasts and the 66 home runs. Dick came back at them soon wasn't exactly the most popular member of the crew. He was risking life and limb in the outfield. Then he started striking out too much. The first thing he knew he was with Hollywood, where the Pittsburgh front office decided his peculiar talent was best fitted at the time.

Stuart hit seven home runs the first week there. Pictures of him decorated Los Angeles sports pages. Visiting a movie studio, he was introduced to Jayne Mansfield.

"How come you get your picture in the papers more than I do?" she asked.

"You don't hit the home run," he answered.

But the holes in Dick soon showed and he wound up back in his old A League stamping grounds in Lincoln.

Manager Larry Shepard of Salt Lake City had the most important hand in the development of Stuart. For which the Pirates are thankful, Stuart helped them hop from a tie for last place in 1957 to second last season—and they were in it until mid-September.

Shepard had Stuart when he hit the 66 home runs for Lincoln. But the young manager did the big job last season with Salt Lake City.

"THE MAIN TROUBLE WAS finding a position for him," explains Shepard. "He'd fall asleep in the outfield while trying to figure why he popped up. Bringing him closer to the batter kept him awake. He might get hit on the head by a batted ball if he dozed off at first. That woke him up. Now, like most sluggers, all he has to do is cut down his strikeouts."

"Dick was eccentric, but he was never obnoxious. And he is a good thinker, although he had lapses at times."

"Salt Lake had the bases full and the count on the hitter was 3 and 1. Dick had a third base. I told him there was no sign on the batter was hitting straight away. As the pitcher wound up, I shouted, 'There he goes!' with the idea of perhaps helping the batter to a fourth ball or taking something off the pitch."

"Dick broke for the plate and was caught flat-footed as the batter took the second strike. 'I thought you might have changed your mind,' he told me."

STUART HAD 51 HOME RUNS and a .311 average in 80 games for Salt Lake City, so he was called up by the Pirates during the All-Star Game break. He hit a home run in his first game in Chicago, a grand slammer the next. He was off. He hit a home run in every National League park. The Pirates moved with him.

He hit a 455-foot triple over the Cubs' Bobby Thomson's head that bounced off the center field fence at Forbes Field. Asked if that was the longest ball he ever hit, he replied, "No, I hit a ball 550 feet in Pueblo. The ball stuck in a mudbank and they measured it."

After all I had heard and read of Stuart, I expected to meet another Billy Loes. Instead, Shepard introduced me to a good-looking, pleasant young man who at 26 has an even 200 pounds packed on a six-three frame.

Stuart's pretty blonde bride of 10 months, Lois, sat beside him in an automobile outside Terry Park as we chatted.

"They told me you were a pop-off," I said.

"I was," replied Stuart, "but a lot of those stories were made up."

I asked Stuart if he believed he could continue hitting National League pitching.

"He'd better," his wife said.

Begin Selection Of Jurors for Nicholas Trial

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Connie Nicholas, pale and tearful, went on trial today for the slaying of a wealthy drug executive who spurned her after 15 years for a younger woman.

The gray-haired divorcee arrived with a jail matron a quarter-hour before the trial opened, dabbing her eyes.

She said she had slept only three hours since Friday and reported she was feeling nervous but "still optimistic."

She wore a gray suit. Her hands were in harnesses because of paralysis she has suffered since her near-suicide after the shooting.

All the 60 public seats in the little, dingy courtroom were filled. Curious spectators milled outside in the basement corridor in the ancient Marion County Courthouse.

Questioning of prospective jurors is expected to take several days.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

BY WARREN PAGE Shooting Editor

Snakes rate more attention from the nature-fakers than any other of God's creatures. There's the old fable about the hoop-snakes that rolls itself into a hoop to build up escape speed, the glass snake that breaks apart when threatened and then reassembles itself later, the maternally-minded snake that swallows all its youngsters when they're menaced and then brings them up when the danger has passed.

And there's considerable marksmanship around regarding snakes as a menace themselves. We can understand the antipathy many people feel at the thought of a snake, poisonous or not. And we have the distance-keeping respect properly due a fanged viper of any sort. But I can't understand the jumpiness so many people show at the thought of the snakes of Africa and India.

From accounts of many who have been to neither place, the jungles of India and the bush of the Dark Continent are a-crawl with death, with hooded cobras lurking adders, fast-crawling black mambas - the works. All of them, the tale-tellers do say, spend their lives either waiting for a white man to pass their ambush, or looking for a campsite so they can crawl into bed with somebody.

Some are Deadly

There are snakes in Africa and India whose strike can kill a man in hours or even minutes. But not that many. I have been in the bookends of these hunting areas for about a solid year all told. In that time I have seen four snakes of any account. Two were cobras, dead on Indian roads, one was a pit viper, also dead, and one little green fellow, species unknown, who swam a jungle stream in the French Congo.

Matter of fact, we have more snakes, bad ones, in settled sections of this country. Like the copperheads nesting in the Bear Mountain area two hours from New York City. Or the rattlers scattered over our Southwest.

One summer in New Mexico a rancher and I averaged two rattlers a day, klunking them with handy rocks.

Last January, when Jimmy Goodrum and I were hurrying to where his pointer had lucked up on a covey of Texas quail, we walked right over five fat rattlers that were sunning themselves on a ditch bank. Jimmy has legs four feet long and I was trotting to keep up, so neither of us got hit; but for my money we were in more danger from snakes, about five miles from a major Texas city, than any one is likely to be in a tropical jungle.

Scores Repudiation

MOSCOW (AP) - The Soviet Union says it does not recognize Iran's recent repudiation of 1921 treaty provisions giving the Soviets the right to send troops into Iran under certain conditions.

Soviet international law authority S. Golunsky, writing in Pravda, said Iran's renunciation of the treaty clauses was a "clumsy attempt" to free itself of its obligations.

Confiscate Vessel

TOKYO (AP) - The Soviet Union today handed over 13 Japanese fishermen seized Jan. 28 on charges of trespassing on Soviet territorial waters.

The Soviets confiscated the fishing vessel.

So far, the Soviets have seized five Japanese vessels and 33 crewmen this year. Last year, the Soviets seized 547 fishermen and 79 boats, of which 49 boats and 527 men were later returned.

Still Holdouts

MANILA (AP) - Two Japanese went into the jungle Sunday in an effort to get two World War II holdouts to surrender, but their answer was a volley of shots.

The holdouts took refuge in the jungle of Lugano Island after the end of the war.

Asks Broadcasters Rid Air of Mediocrity Tag

CHICAGO (AP) - Robert W. Sarnoff today urged the broadcasting industry to shelve its rivalries long enough to sell itself to critics who have branded it mediocre.

"A climate is being created for more government regulation of broadcasting," Sarnoff said. He is chairman of the National Broadcasting Co.

Sarnoff, a speaker at the National Assn. of Broadcasters 37th annual convention, declared in a prepared speech that "on the one hand, there is wide public support for television and radio which supply what most of the people want most of the time. On the other hand, there is persistent criticism of these media because they serve majority tastes and interests."

"If the average viewer is constantly told, without contradiction, that he is guilty of a shameful act in watching his favorite programs, then he might begin to approach his set the way the small boy approaches the cookie jar," he said.

"We must understand that it is minority distaste for programs chosen by the majority that has triggered the slogan of mediocrity - and we must label this slogan for what it really is, a failure to respect freedom of taste, an effort of the few to impose their tastes on the many," he said.

Asks Zoning Change

A public hearing will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., in the city court room, city hall, on the petition of Alan R. L. Erskine, of New York, for a zoning change affecting a property at Wall and Pearl Streets. A business-zone designation is sought for construction of a building to house professional offices.

The hearing will be conducted by Ninth Ward Alderman William K. Bodenweber, chairman of the Common Council's laws and rules committee.

Submerges 13 Minutes, Claims New Record

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) - An electronics technician held his breath under water for 13 minutes and 42.5 seconds - long enough to have written a letter if he had a ball point pen.

He claimed a new world record. Robert Foster, 32, of Richmond, Calif., a member of the Marin Skindivers Club, said he beat the old record by 7.5 seconds. Before entering the pool, Foster gulped pure oxygen administered by an anesthetist for 30 minutes to drive all carbon dioxide from his lungs.

Graham Crusade In Australia Attracts 140,000

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Billy Graham wound up his month-long crusade in Australia's second largest city Sunday, with the biggest crowd of his career, more than 140,000 people.

Graham's previous record audience—100,000—was at New York's Yankee Stadium in 1957.

Australian clergymen said the American evangelist's final local meeting was the greatest religious gathering in the country's history. Leaders of virtually every church, including Roman Catholics and Jews, praised the North Carolina Baptist's crusade.

During his month, Graham has drawn audiences totaling nearly 700,000. Millions have heard him on radio and television.

Graham spoke from a platform in the center of the five-acre Melbourne Cricket Ground, site of the 1956 Olympic games. Victoria State Governor Sir Dallas Brooks, Lady Brooks and church leaders were on the platform.

The Catholic Advocate paid tribute to the "great missionary effort which Dr. Graham and his collaborators have undertaken with a view to awakening the world to the vital truth and the all-importance of spiritual reality."

A Jewish journal lauded Graham for his innate goodness and fine character, adding, "no matter what faith one may be, none of us can help but be amazed and pleased with the influence of this American evangelist."

Graham flew to Tasmania today for two meetings. After a two-week holiday in Queensland, he will start a crusade in New Zealand in April.

Speed Up Program On Missile System

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—Acceleration of an already speeded up missile program was announced at the Army Ordnance Missile Command at Redstone Arsenal Sunday.

The missile involved is the Pershing and the extra speed-up is in the development of its weapon system.

"Technology is advancing so rapidly that we cannot afford the sequential, time-consuming approach," said Maj. Gen. J. B. Medaris.

All phases of the Pershing development are being tackled at once, said Medaris, as opposed to the old system whereby a missile was planned, manufactured, tested, and returned for modifications.

The new program extends to the training program too. Medaris said this calls for early use of troops trained in the missile test firing phase.

Evacuation Award

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The sales meeting of a typewriter firm at a hotel turned out to be a stinking affair.

Ed Valentine took what he thought was a deodorized skunk to the meeting as a prize in a sales contest.

The skunk got nervous and smelled up the place. That broke up the meeting.

The odor wafted into the air conditioning system, forcing temporary evacuation of five floors of the hotel as well as the dining room and lounge.

Man Is Injured In Yacht Blast, 6 Others Rescued

PORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—An explosion on a sumptuous yacht turned a tranquil Sunday outing into fiery peril for the seven persons aboard.

One of them, Richard Dunham, 28, was hospitalized for arm, chest and face burns. The others were rescued shaken but unscathed from the blazing 40-foot motor cruiser Nancy Marie VII.

"I have no idea what caused the explosion," said skipper Joel S. Wingate, 38. "It came from the engine room, amidships."

Others taken aboard a bystander's boat were Mr. and Mrs. John L. Keough, owners, who said the yacht was insured for $82,000; Dunham's parents Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dunham, and Kathleen Doyle of Snyder, N. Y., a suburb of Buffalo.

Two Generals Say US Tough Enough In Berlin Crisis

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Two top generals have assured Congress the United States has the military muscle to handle any developments in the Berlin crisis. They advised against giving an inch.

The assurances came from Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, and Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, in closed-door sessions of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee. Censored versions of their testimony were released over the weekend.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said after the hearings that the generals had indicated the United States has adequate plans and strength to support and execute the nation's foreign policy. Johnson made it clear he was speaking of the present.

Sees Adequate Force

White told the senators he feels U. S. military forces in Europe are adequate to deal with the Berlin crisis. He said the sending of new military units to Europe now would have no influence to speak of on the outcome of the Berlin situation "because the 7th Army is one of the best trained and best equipped units in the world."

The general said nothing drastic can be done now to strengthen the Air Force's hand in the situation, adding that in general it is to all intents mobilized to within a matter of hours.

Taylor told the subcommittee the country should go to war if necessary for Berlin. But he added he believes "that if we are ready if necessary to go all the way it probably will not be necessary."

Duncan Case Goes To Jury Today

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—The long, hard-fought murder case of Elizabeth Duncan goes to the jury today.

The jury of eight women and four men will start deliberating Mrs. Duncan's fate after hearing Superior Court Judge Charles F. Blackstock's instructions.

"They will determine whether Mrs. Duncan, 34, hired two men to kill her son Frank's pregnant bride, Olga, as the prosecution charges."

During the four-week trial the state produced a mass of evidence intended to prove that Mrs. Duncan was so jealous of her son that she arranged to eliminate her daughter-in-law.

The defense contended that two minor criminals, Augustine Baldonado, 26, and Luis Moya, 20, kidnapped Olga in a ransom plot last Nov. 17 and then killed her.

Baldonado and Moya confessed strangling the 30-year-old Canadian nurse and said Mrs. Duncan had promised them $500 for the job. Both testified against Mrs. Duncan.

NAACP Asking For Voluntary Texas Integration

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People will seek to avoid lawsuits by urging local voluntary integration of schools in east Texas, an official of the group says.

Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins, New York, told delegates to the NAACP Texas State Conference Sunday the organization will wage a stepped-up campaign with that aim this year.

Plans also call for membership, poll tax payment and voting drives in observance of the 50th anniversary of the NAACP, Wilkins said.

Wilkins told newsmen integration must get under way in east Texas and that the collapse of Virginia's "massive resistance" against desegregation proves state law cannot avoid it.

Informing that the Houston School Board is drawing up plans for desegregation, Wilkins said his group favors such planning in its quest to "avoid lawsuits and arousing of feelings."

PORT EWEN NEWS Large Attendance Reported at Post 1298 Legion Party

A large gathering of Legionnaires and their friends were present at the annual birthday party of Town of Esopus Post 1298, American Legion, held Saturday at the Capri. Ten members of the post were honored for continuous membership in the Legion for 40 years.

Those honored were Robert B. Fisk Sr., Edward McBroom, William H. Clark, P. Joseph Beichert, Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth, Wilbur Matthews, Dr. Lester E. Sanford, Edwin V. Schoonmaker, Edwin T. Doyle and John T. Groves.

Each received a 40 year card and a parchment citation for service to "God and Country." Awards were presented jointly by County Commander Edgar M. Maurer and Post Commander G. Knute Beichert. Both thanked the honored guests for their part in the formation of the Town of Esopus Post in 1945 and for their many endeavors on behalf of the Legion over a 40 year span.

P. Joseph Beichert, first commander of Post 1298, speaking for the 40 year members, reviewed the events leading to the establishment of the post and touched on the history to the present time. He said that the Legion has become a potent force for good in the township and urged the younger veterans to adhere strictly to the high principles of the American Legion.

County Commander Maurer, in his address, thanked the World War I veterans for their continued assistance on county committees and pointed to the fact that more than half of the major county committees are still headed by these loyal legionnaires.

Chester W. Barth, president of the Esopus Legion Little League, was presented with the deed to land adjacent to the post property in Port Ewen for the development of a new Little League stadium. He thanked the heirs of the S. D. Coykendall estate for their generous action in transferring the property for the eventual use of the children of the township.

John Spinnenweber, chairman of the annual party, acted as toastmaster.

Frank Auringer Sr., membership chairman, presented "rock-eter" pins to members of the post who have signed up 15 or more members during the current membership drive. They were Edward McBroom, Edgar M. Maurer, Walter Bigler, Milton Tsitsera, C. W. Barth, Commander Beichert and Chairman Auringer.

Past Commander Edgar M. Ward accepted a department citation to the post for work on the Blue Cruise drive.

A short program was presented by Unit 1298 Auxiliary. Shirley Spinnenweber sang the national anthem and a moment of silence was observed for the 40 year members who have died.

Counterfeit Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's been a banner year for counterfeiters—but don't blame the recession. It's just human desire, says the U. S. Secret Service.

Secret Service Chief U. E. Baughman, in testimony made public today by the House Appropriations Committee, said an upsurge in counterfeiting in 1958 has caused his agents serious concern.

Eight Die, Four Are Injured in Arizona Crash

KINGMAN, Ariz. (AP)—A head-on collision 40 miles northeast of this northern Arizona city snuffed out eight lives Sunday night and injured four others, two critically.

Highway Patrol Sgt. Floyd Cisney identified these dead in one car:

Joe Williams, 32; John Collins, 32; Hattie Williams and Mary Collins, all of Peach Springs.

Peach Springs is on the Hualapai Indian reservation, on the miles west of the accident scene on U.S. 66.

Killed in the other vehicle were Henry Manuel Goke, 38, of Albuquerque, N.M., the driver; Gertrude Chavez, 24, of Long Beach, Calif., and her infant son, Richard; and Josie Campbell, 2, also of Long Beach. Relationship of the Campbell child was not determined immediately.

Cisney said Williams strayed over the center line and smashed into the other auto.

Says Tax Boost Might Force Stock Exchange to Move

NEW YORK (AP)—G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, says that imposing a city tax on stock transfers—as proposed by Mayor Robert F. Wagner—might force the exchange to move out of New York.

Funston Sunday called the proposal a "totally unsound scheme to make investors throughout the country help solve the city's financial difficulties."

Once before, in 1933, the city was preparing to tax stock transfers. At that time the exchange acquired property and set up facilities in Newark, N.J. The tax proposal was dropped, and the facilities were never used.

More criticism of the proposal came from Edward T. McCormick, president of the American Stock Exchange. He said of the Wagner proposal: "I think it is stupid. The fact of the matter is that it is measures such as this that are driving business out of our city."

The city conference was made by Wagner at a proposal at Albany Saturday with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and legislative leaders. The idea was to tax stock transfers at half the rates now imposed by the state. These range from 1 to 4 cents a share. There is also a federal tax.

After the award, the President explained that his wife and microphones still were not "on speaking terms" and he would have to express their thanks.
